Hi, a couple of quick questions...

1. Am I correct that XRP is basically the "stock symbol" for Ripple? And that buying XRP is like buying shares of Ripple? Therefore if I buy it at .30 and it's value rises to .50 I've made that much profit on all the "shares" I've accumulated?

I realize I'm speaking in stock terminology but I'm making sure I understand exactly how this works.

2. Assuming I'm correct about everything above. If it does rise in value, can I then withdraw it in USD when I decide to? And what is the charge for doing so?

3. Are the exchanges that are listed on your site all trustworthy and reliable for transactions?

Thank you.
